How AI Can Unleash The Power of Your Organizational Knowledge

written by Lauri Moon | January 31, 2025

Learn how AI can unlock the hidden potential within your organization's vast knowledge base. This session explores how manufacturers are using AI to access the incredibly valuable insights deeply embedded in institutional knowledge for faster problem resolution and better decision-making. We'll explore how to turn data into actionable insights and create a foundation for sustained innovation and market leadership.

Presenter: Shai Eisen, CEO, Korra AI
Shai is an experienced leader and engineer with a proven track record of driving innovation across various industries. Currently serving as the CEO of Korra, he spent seven years at Gartner, where he successfully launched and scaled its user reviews platforms. Shai holds an MBA from Columbia University and a B.Sc. in Engineering from Northwestern University.

Register