

CMMC With No IT Staff

written by Lauri Moon | January 9, 2023

One thing is very apparent with CMMC, it is very technical and will require a high degree of technical skill to do it properly. But, many small businesses don't have a dedicated IT staff, or their IT team has no hands-on experience with meeting technical standards. How can a business with limited or no IT staff achieve CMMC certification?

In this session, our team will explain the technical resources and skills needed to prepare for a CMMC certification. We'll address:

- Which CMMC requirements involve technology and which are organizational processes?
- What technical decisions will companies face when preparing for CMMC?
- In what cases can an external IT expert be helpful?
- Can CMMC certification be achieved without an IT staff on the payroll?
- What are the pros and cons of hiring your own IT staff?

Join IMC and our third-party partner Core Business Solutions as we discuss the "IT skills-gap" common to so many small businesses.

Register

When asked what MEP/PTAC referred you to this event, please type IMC.