

Economic Guidance Through Turbulent Times

written by Lauri Moon | November 11, 2020

COVID-19 chaos + Election + Misinformation on the Economy = Uncertainty, hesitation, and lost profits. That is precisely where ITR can help. Brian Beaulieu, CEO of ITR Economics, will provide as much clear foresight as possible looking at the numbers and the trends. Tune out the hype. The only item on our agenda is your financial success. Attendees will leave with:

- An objective analysis of the COVID-19 trends and what the prospects for a second wave
- Understanding what the election results mean economically in general and manufacturing specifically
- Knowing how the election could impact your financial well-being depending on your what decisions you make
- A view to what the consumer is really doing and what it means for all of us
- Ramification of the massive bailout efforts
