

Financing Energy Improvements to Increase Efficiency Within Your Facility

written by Lauri Moon | March 31, 2021

Improving energy efficiency and reducing energy-related costs can often require investment in new equipment, technology, or controls.

North Central PA Energy Efficiency Roundtable

Improving energy efficiency and reducing energy-related costs can sometimes require investment in new equipment, technology, or controls. Often, companies are eligible to apply for funding assistance to offset the cost of energy efficiency improvement efforts but are uncertain where to find these incentives.

During this webinar, we will discuss opportunities and incentives for small to mid-sized companies throughout Pennsylvania. We will have representatives discussing prospects for funding through FirstEnergy Act 129 and the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) Small Business Advantage Grant. Additional funding prospects will be discussed by a PennTAP advisor.

This webinar is presented in partnership with the Pennsylvania Technical Assistance Program (PennTAP). If you have specific questions about grants and incentives, we will have representatives available during this webinar to address your funding questions with you.

Topic: Act 129 Funding and Incentives to Finance Energy Improvements to Increase Facility Efficiency

Often, many companies are eligible to apply for funding assistance to offset the cost of energy efficiency improvement efforts, but are uncertain where to find these incentives. Eligibility of sites and projects, as well as project payback estimates, should be considered carefully. This webinar will cover funding opportunities for small to mid-sized companies throughout Pennsylvania, including Act 129 and Department of Environmental Protection's Small Business Advantage Grant. Additional funding prospects will be shared by PennTAP.
