

Forklift Operator Training - Tips for an Effective Program

written by Lauri Moon | February 18, 2022

During this webcast, we'll break down OSHA's requirements for conducting forklift operator training. We'll also provide tips that aren't addressed in the regulations so you can ensure your program is as effective as it can be.

We'll answer the following questions and more!

- Who can/should conduct training?
- What topics should be covered?
- When should refresher training be conducted?
- Do experienced new employees still require training?
- What is a good evaluation?
- Should there be a probationary period after training?

Time will be reserved for a live Q&A session. Bring your forklift compliance questions!
