How to Manage Supplier Operations for Reduced Risk

written by Lauri Moon | September 9, 2020

While leveraging a multitude of suppliers or vendors is critical to ensuring your teams have the materials they need, working with suppliers or vendors introduces several sources of risk, like legal, quality, cost, or delivery challenges. These risks only increase as your vendor fleet grows, leaving the success of your organization dependent on your ability solve for said challenges at scale.

Join us for a live webinar tackling just that: how to reduce risks associated with managing suppliers and vendors. Quick Base's Senior Solutions Consultant, Rob Spence, and Demand Generation Manager, Micha Hardie will walk through how organizations are using low code to:

- Create a single source of truth for supplier information (contacts, locations, pricing, contracts, etc.)
- Control procurement budget and identify opportunities to reduce costs
- Ensuring vendor compliance with negotiated terms

… helping them to spot and reduce risks in their supply chain.

Register now to learn how you can optimize supplier management and eliminate these common pitfalls.
