

What's New with OSHA Litigation After COVID-19?

written by Lauri Moon | March 1, 2022

As we enter the next phase of the pandemic, OSHA remains focused on its obligations—under the General Duty Clause of the Occupational Health and Safety Act—to protect workers from the hazard of contracting Covid-19 in the workplace.

Enforcement of workplace Covid prevention plans and policies should be expected as the protection of unvaccinated workers continues to be a leading priority. Join us for a webinar exploring continued mitigation strategies in a post-ETS world.
