

Written Safety Plans - Laying a Foundation for Compliance and More

written by Lauri Moon | December 30, 2021

Developing effective written plans is not just a paperwork exercise or a tool to help you pass an OSHA inspection. Written plans, whether required or not, streamline your safety efforts and provide a foundation for keeping workplace safety and health a priority. Your company likely falls under one or more of the over 50 written plan requirements for general industry and construction. Are you sure you have the ones you need? During this webcast, we'll look at:

- Written plan regulations,
- What makes plans more effective,
- Written plan benefits and resources,
- Questions and answers,
- And much more.

Register

By clicking above, I acknowledge and agree to Endeavor's Terms of Service and to Endeavor's use of my contact information to communicate with me about offerings by Endeavor, its brands, affiliates and/or third-party partners, consistent with Endeavor's Privacy Policy. In addition, I understand that my personal information will be shared with any sponsor(s) of the resource, so they can contact me directly about their products or services. Please refer to the privacy policies of such sponsor(s) for more details on how your information will be used by them.

Speakers

Tricia Hodkiewicz, EHS Editor, J. J. Keller & Associates, Inc.

Tricia Hodkiewicz has been a workplace safety and environmental editor at J. J. Keller & Associates for over 20 years providing content for safety and environmental-related publications on subject matters including hazard communication, HAZWOPER, bloodborne pathogens, SPCC, storm water, SARA Title III, signs and labels, and written plans. Tricia's articles have appeared in popular magazines like Industrial Safety & Hygiene News, Safety + Health, and Occupational Health & Safety. What's more, through the Personal Assistant feature of KellerOnline, Tricia has fielded thousands of regulatory questions from Safety and Environmental Professionals.

Mark Stromme, Sr. EHS Editor, J. J. Keller & Associates, Inc.

Mark Stromme joined J. J. Keller & Associates in 1994. As Senior EHS Editor, he develops content for various J. J. Keller publications specializing in OSHA Construction and General Industry regulations. Mark is also an Authorized OSHA Outreach Construction Trainer and over the years he has fielded thousands of safety-related questions to assist safety professionals in addressing the challenges facing them today.

Sponsor

