

Project N95 Seeks Volunteers and Domestic Manufacturers of PPE

written by Lauri Moon | December 8, 2020

Project N95 is a nonprofit organization created as a rapid response to the COVID-19 pandemic. The organization serves as a national clearinghouse for critical personal protective equipment (PPE) and medical supplies. It provides a trusted, transparent and simplified way to navigate the complexities of the PPE market. Since May 2020, Project N95 has delivered more than 2 million units of PPE to protect health care and front-line workers and has partnered with medical societies including the American College of Physicians, American Academy of Family Physicians, and the American Medical Association to name a few.

As Project N95 works closely with health care workers, we continue to hear from them about the lack of adequate access to needed PPE. As the pandemic continues and schools reopen, we are actively seeking ways to help our essential workers. Many Project N95 buyers are interested in purchasing products manufactured in the U.S. and Project N95 is actively seeking supplier partners.

If you're interested in participating in Project N95 on a voluntary basis, please visit and complete their Domestic Manufacturing Interest Form. For more information about Project N95, contact Karen Carswell of MassMEP (Massachusetts MEP Center) at karenc@massmep.org.
