written by Lauri Moon | November 7, 2018

Manufacturers are navigating a period of intense change as digitization and advanced technologies transform the sector. Prudential commissioned a survey, performed by The Economist Intelligence Unit, to assess manufacturers' preparedness and priorities. The survey surfaced findings organized around three key themes: strategies that manufacturers are adopting in response to industrial transformation; their approaches to managing their changing talent needs; and what the most innovative and tech-forward players in the sector do differently.

Join Prudential as they share innovative ways to address these unique challenges with focus on the most important component of all, your people. Workforce management is the engine that drives your organization both by injecting new talent into the mix to insure you stay current while also insuring your people will be taken care of both while they are working and into retirement. Prudential's insights will provide new ways to address your current and future concerns.
