

Meeting the HR Challenge

written by Lauri Moon | September 7, 2023

Small and mid-sized manufacturing firms face a special challenge in recruiting, selecting, onboarding, upskilling or reskilling, and retaining their workers.

Most business leaders and HR professionals are keenly aware of The Great Resignation, Quiet Quitting, and similar trends with the workforce that complicate the job of employers finding, attracting, engaging, and keeping workers with the right attitude and with the right ability.

This 55-minute webinar will help identify and invigorate a new or refreshed awareness of several important elements of meeting today's HR challenges, especially those directly connected with workforce trends.

Internationally recognized HR thought leader, William J. Rothwell, will deliver this engaging session and touch briefly on each of the following topics:

- The current employment landscape and how to approach the HR Challenge without an HR staff.
- Insights and current approaches important for recruiting and selecting workers.
- Understanding current onboarding challenges and considerations for training and development.
- Discovering several trends in worker engagement.
- Reducing turnover and improving retention rates.

Meeting the HR Challenge isn't a one-time quick fix. It is developing tactical and cultural approaches that will help the organization start things off right and gain more engagement and commitment over time.

Webinar: Managing Demographic Change - Risks & Opportunities for Industry

written by Lauri Moon | September 7, 2023

As a generation of workers retire, companies are struggling to capture and transfer their knowledge and experience. Additionally, many have had challenges integrating the new generation of workers, both from a cultural and risk awareness standpoint.

What can companies do to retain critically important institutional knowledge among older workers about to retire and pass it along to current and new employees to reduce the organization's risk exposure and improve performance? What processes and systems need to be modified to capture the attention of this new group of employees?

During this webinar, the speakers will discuss the greatest challenges their clients are faced with and the opportunities related to demographic change and share four critical components to managing this change.
